Wrenched Feet and Ankles Cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

GENTLEMEN—A short time ago I severely sprained my foot and ankle. The injury was very painful and the consequent swelling and inflammation kept me from business. A friend recommended St. Jacobs Oil, and I take great pleasure in informing you that one application was sufficient to effect a rapid cure. It is a safe, easy and effective remedy and is invaluable, and I shall lose no opportunity of suggesting the use of St. Jacobs Oil. Yours truly, Henry J. Dours, Manager, The Cyclone Co., London, England.

St. Jacobs Oil is safe and sure and never failing. Conquer pain.

Norwegian fishers' competitors have been breaking the salmon's leap to the standard creel, below waterfalls. They have found that the fish can leap to a height of twenty feet.

Reduced Work's Work One Hour.

West Dorsey, N. H., Oct. 2.—The firm of W. M. and H. W. Pillsbury, one of the largest manufacturers of children's shoes in New England, posted notice today that hereafter fifty-nine hours should constitute week's work their factory, instead of sixty.

The Boston expressionists' strike has been settled, the 2000 drivers, keepers and humpers are at work, and the sympathetic strike of 20,000 men comprising the allied trades unions, which was threatened, is thereby averted.

DEBTINY.
I owe a sum in a silent sky
And the cold eyes of fate play
Like the eyes of fate, inevitable, Mysterious always.
You're the last to know, I say,
Over the dark earth it has gone
With the pale, cold gleam of a spark alone
From the midst of a soulless stone.

Year after year, age after age, Till the long years moments seem,
Longer and longer the years seem
And caught but a chilling gleam;
The eyes of fate and the soulless star
Not pity, nor fear, nor lossen y
One link of the binding chain.

SMALL FARMS IN CUBA.

AGRICULTURE HAS MADE PROGRESS SINCE THE WAR.

Investigations of the University Professor's Advisory Committee—American Exposed to Working the Soil—The Irrigating Ditches Restored—Well-to-do Farmers.

It is one of the common mistakes that Cuba is good to raise only sugar and tobacco, writes a correspondent of the New York Tribune. Leaving out the consideration of sheep-climbing bridge building and other "Careers of Dangers and Daring," devotes an illustrated article in the Century to an account of what he calls the Mid-Air clubs of New York, which are used principally by business men as lunch rooms.

Suppose we leave our toll of the morning, our business scheming, and try what the mid-air clubs can do for us. A few blocks above the post office in the Central Business District, a gray granite building six stories high, the street and capped by a wide corral so high that, why, when you look up at it—bend your head farther back—it seems to sway out unsteadily. We shall be lunching presently just before the insurrection brought such great trouble to Cuba. Guanabacoa was one of the most prosperous parts of the island, has been coming up rather slowly because, with so large a proportion of small farms destroyed, and with their owners dead or heavily in debt, speed recuperation was not possible. The result is that the island, which has begun still bears heavily on some unfortunate landowners, but this is one of the inevitable result of the war which no authority of government could easily relieve. Nevertheless, the spirit of the Spanish, money lender, many of the original owners of the small farms or their heirs seem to be keeping their property or a part of it. Their burdens are heavy, yet encouragement is given to them to stay a season or two that these will be lightened.

"Must have an easy landlord," commented the man leaning on the iron fence.

"Yes," said the man with the hose. "Yes," said the latter, good natured. "Now, little son of a gun," said the man outside the fence.

"Uh-huh," said the man with the hose. "Jolted the land into resounding it this spring. Then, after that, I wedded him—or my wife did, for I never married," said the man, smiling, as he clapped his hand over his heart. "I've got it in pretty good shape now."

"Must have an easy landlord," commented the man leaning on the iron fence.

"Yes," said the man with the hose. "Yes," said the latter, good natured. "Now, little son of a gun," said the man outside the fence.

"Uh-huh," said the man with the hose. "Jolted the land into resounding it this spring. Then, after that, I wedded him—or my wife did, for I never married," said the man, smiling, as he clapped his hand over his heart. "I've got it in pretty good shape now."

Correspondence and items of news are solicited from all readers of the Gazette. Every one has something to say, and we hope that those who would like to read about it.

While we have an efficient corps of regular contributors, we are always glad to receive items of news, and the names of persons who would like to contribute.

The remaining news brought here Monday, Oct. 14, and the funeral was held in Trinity Church, Rev. Mr. Hyde conducting the service, and Mrs. Weymouth rendering the selections "Lord Kindly Light" and "Come Unto Me." The ushers were Russell E. Weymouth, William H. Cowing, John Nash and Will Hollis. Although the day was very stormy, many friends came to pay their last tributes of love and regard to the friend whose life was to them a help and inspiration, for her was a sunny, happy disposition, with always a smile and word of cheer for all who knew her. The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful. The remains were interred in the Village Cemetery.

Mr. Charles Merrill was in charge of a candy table which received a good share of patronage.

A Klondike table with Mrs. Raymond as superintendent, had many features which were new and pleasing.

Mrs. Charlotte Stoddard and a corps of aids dispensed lemonade and other luxuries at the next table.

Mr. Alice Bourdelle was in charge of a table which was loaded with the specialties of the school.

Now we come to the table of the North Weymouth circle in charge of Mrs. Clara Clark. This, as well as the following ones was a variety table and was well stocked with many useful and fancy articles.

Mrs. Alice Coolidge had charge of the table of the Landing circle, Mrs. Marion Thayer that of South Weymouth, and Mrs. Mary Goodwin that of East Weymouth.

There were several features to all of these tables, yet each one had a distinct character and showed much hard work and enterprise on the part of the several committees.

Attractive programs of entertainment were arranged for each night and the management showed good taste in a lack of repetition and pleasing variety.

NOVEMBER.

Put a new man in a coat with others and he will shortly be divested of a good share of his plaudits. Bring a new dog into a neighborhood and he will have a battle to fight with all of the dogs which have come before him, but that is no reason why the rule should apply to schools and colleges which are supposed to be peopled with intelligent human beings. But a few weeks ago we read of "Bloody Monday" at Harvard in which over fifty persons were injured and the grounds literally strewed with torn clothing, hats, neckties and cuffs. Next comes the fall of the term, and the new comers were literally stripped of clothing and compelled to parade in a state of nudity, and last but not least comes the intelligence from Baltimore that its university opened with a fight in which clubs and stones were freely used and a policeman and several students were carried from the fray in an unconscious condition. The missing link has been found in our educational institutions.

—Rev. Melvin S. Nash preached Sunday morning to a very attentive congregation on the subject "Conversion," taking his text from St. John, 3d chapter, 7th and eighth verses. Mr. Harry R. Bates sang "Fear ye not, O Israel," and Mr. Bates and Mrs. Thompson very effectively rendered the duet "My faith looks up to Thee." Next Sunday Mr. Nash will send a substitute, he having been elected a state delegate to the Universalist convention at Buffalo this week and will also attend the Exposition there. The Y. P. C. U. at 7 p. m. was in charge of Mr. Edward Sampson of North Weymouth who gave a very interesting talk on "Our Mission Day."

—The Ladies' Charity Club will meet with Mrs. J. G. Worster Tuesday p. m., next, Oct. 22d, at 2.30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

—Rev. Gleason Cole, of Beverly, will preach at the Weymouth Baptist Church house next Sunday morning.

—Mr. Cole will be remembered the other day that I called upon to ask for a space in your column this week.

For some time past, property owners and residents have been annoyed by the persisted and petty thievery of junk-dealers and rag-men, and now things have got to such a pass that we should and must call a halt!

—Not content with harboring for your rage, or whatever, you may offer for sale, the rag-man must needs take a mental survey of your property for future reference, and you need not be surprised if the next time you turn to your telephone for something you will be asked to give which you had forgotten you possessed.

And should you refuse to let him have it for a few pence more or less, be quite sure that you keep it under lock and key for many weeks afterward, or you may be like an acquaintance of mine who refused to sell a bullet-metall which was a family heirloom. Thinking his refusal was an end to the matter, he awoke one morning to the fact that it was gone and the junkman had it, of course.

Having no particular work to perform, the writer one morning took a stand on one of the main streets of the town leading from Quincy, and in the course of an hour, counted no less than seventeen junk-dealers on their way to "Quincy

Weymouth" for rag-beds and meat

etc. etc. etc. and all displayed a license number.

This is too large a number by far, and one would think that they ought to be a few less.

—The young son of Willis M. Rand of Morton street fell sick and broke his left wrist.

—Miss Mary Thomas has returned from a visit with relatives in East Milton.

—Zinc and grinding.

—Mrs. S. Clapp and Miss Anna Weller-man are visiting at Westfield, Conn.

—Mrs. F. T. Tittle and Mr. F. T. Tittle are in Weymouth.

—Miss Anna and Jessie Bates of Weymouth Center are visiting J. V. B.

Bates for a few days.

—The other day a friend told one of them that he had a law case to see Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Tittle on Morton street.

—We are grieved to learn of the death of Everett F., son of Joseph W. Arning-ton, who for so many years was connected with the public schools of this place. On leaving Weymouth, Mr. Arning-ton removed to Everett, where he now resides, and with whom his son and family made their home. Everett was

The fact that assassinations of public men have been more frequent during the past fifty years than at any other time since the Dark Ages is a strange paradox, for during the nineteenth century, and especially its latter half, a higher estimation has been put upon human life than ever before.

The amelioration of criminal codes, reducing the frequency of the death penalty and the founding of great numbers of benevolent institutions to prolong the life and increase the comfort of even the lowest members of the community establish this beyond a doubt. The frequency of regicide is clearly a most exceptional feature of our present civilization.

Tomorrow is the last day for registering as a voter in this town. If you name on the list?

According to the "Old Farmers' Almanac," of which we have just received copy No. 116, the sun, moon and stars will perform their revolutions another year.

Work of the board of registrars has been high in all parts of the town. When the election committee and where are the young men who have come of age the past year?

Owing to the crowded condition of our streets, we are compelled to leave out much in the way of local news, also a new and extended time table of the street railway which will appear week.

Reading is a remarkable town. A few weeks ago a Labor Exchange was established there and now it has been abandoned for the reason that the registry was all on one side. The people are tired of it and can't help but move to a better work—hence no "Exchange."

The Democratic platform issued at the state convention dealt with nearly all the questions of the day, both national and international, and was twice as many words as that of the Republican party, but it will not follow that that will take twice as long to count the votes, however, from the platform and campaign which follows.

Topics Lectures and Concerts.

The following course of lectures and concerts has been arranged for the coming season by the selection, under the direction of the Weymouth Board of Education.

St. Paul's Church, North Weymouth.

Nov. 17. The Shubert Male Quartette, and Miss Henning's reader.

Dec. 27. The Boston Singers, Bowler, subject, "Song," illustrated.

Old Fellow's Opera House, East Weymouth.

Dec. 6. Boston Choral Society.

Dec. 11. Frank E. Roberson, subject, "Boer and Briton," illustrated.

Dec. 18. Arthur E. Fock, subject, "Colonial Days," or "Days of a Nation," illustrated.

Baptist Church, Weymouth.

Nov. 17. Arthur E. Fock, subject, "Grand Causes of the World," illustrated.

Dec. 13. Col. Bain, subject, "Among the Masses."

Jan. 2. The John Thomas Concert Committee.

Fogg Opera House, South Weymouth.

Nov. 22. "The Boston Rivals."

Dec. 14. Col. Bain, subject, "A Century of Progress."

Dec. 20. Frank E. Roberson, subject, "Life of William McKinley," illustrated.

Jan. 24. Thomas Dinnane, "A Wonderful Structure," or "A Man of Today."

At The High School.

Miss Terrell, a former teacher, was a visitor at the school the latter part of last week.

A second eleven has been organized with Thirteenth Street, Weymouth, 10 members. The eleven has a strong line-up: Louey, I. A., Grafota, I. A., Trumbull, I. A., Kennedy, C. J., Watson, F. E., Whiting, F. E., Spillett, E. A., Merchant, C. H., Ford, C. H., V. Sherry, F. D., and have proved themselves nearly a match for the first eleven.

Mr. Wren has been substituting this week in Miss Wheeler's place.

Mr. Cronin '90, now of Dartmouth, was a visitor at the school Monday.

Manager Sherman will take the following men, Cato, Torrey, and Mathew Mitchell, to the Boston High School on Saturday, Oct. 26, to play football. Cato, Sherry, White, Patrick and Duffy to Cambridge tomorrow (Saturday), where he will have his team face Cambridge High. Cambridge, however, playing the same game this year and Weymouth should expect a hard contest.

Mr. Cronin '92 met with a serious accident the past week, was confined to his bed, and will be out for a long time. He was moved to the Boston Emergency Hospital but is now at his home and at the time of writing is improving.

The card will appear next Tuesday. For the freshmen this will be the first High School mark and will show the training given by the different grammar schools.

On the afternoon of Nov. 1, in Room 3, the sophomores will present the following programme:

"The Awakening in Italy,"

"The Awakening in England,"

Miss Lovell.

"Wycliffe as a Teacher,"

Miss Koenig.

"The Work of Herod and Ascham,"

Miss Mary Hunt.

Recitation.

"More's Utopia,"

Miss Murry.

Recitation.

"The Place of Spencer in Literature,"

Mr. Prentiss.

Among the visitors this week we noted Mr. H. H. Hale, Miss Lillian of South Weymouth, and Miss Pratt of last year's freshman class.

The zoology class took their first lesson in the open fields on Wednesday afternoon, the weather being favorable which caused the excitement was to hear and act upon the resignation of the reception committee, that committee having decided to postpone the meeting until the time being unable to formulate plan for a reception. The resignation of the committee was accepted and after a few discussions of the time question, Mr. Lincoln gave some pleasing reminiscences of his experience both in connection with Boston and Weymouth, and Misses Cowling, Loud and Weymouth, and Misses Cullum, C. C. and Lincoln gave some pleasing reminiscences of their work in the organization for the ensuing year, and at 8.30 the meeting adjourned.

The freshman class will give the following recitation in the Assembly hall on the afternoon of Nov. 1:

Recitation. "Nathan Hale," (Plim.)

Recitation. "Miss Delicia."

Recitation. "Washington at Cambridge," (Lodge.)

Recitation. "Mr. Brown."

Recitation. "Warren's Address,"

Miss Anderson.

"Supposed speech of Adams," (Webster.)

Recitation. "Mr. Cullen."

Recitation. "Mr. Cullen."

Recitation. "The Franklin School."

For the past year the Franklin School has been honored somewhat by the over-flowing good nature of High school pupils in our town. The school has been a great success, and morning Principal Hughes received a written communication from the mother of one of the members of the class. The fresh-mans should remember that they are no longer children but young men and young women.

Tomorrow is the last day for registering as a voter in this town. If you name on the list?

According to the "Old Farmers' Almanac," of which we have just received copy No. 116, the sun, moon and stars will perform their revolutions another year.

Work of the board of registrars has been high in all parts of the town. When the election committee and where are the young men who have come of age the past year?

Owing to the crowded condition of our streets, we are compelled to leave out much in the way of local news, also a new and extended time table of the street railway which will appear week.

Reading is a remarkable town. A few weeks ago a Labor Exchange was established there and now it has been abandoned for the reason that the registry was all on one side. The people are tired of it and can't help but move to a better work—hence no "Exchange."

The Democratic platform issued at the state convention dealt with nearly all the questions of the day, both national and international, and was twice as many words as that of the Republican party, but it will not follow that that will take twice as long to count the votes, however, from the platform and campaign which follows.

Topics Lectures and Concerts.

The following course of lectures and concerts has been arranged for the coming season by the selection, under the direction of the Weymouth Board of Education.

St. Paul's Church, North Weymouth.

Nov. 17. The Shubert Male Quartette, and Miss Henning's reader.

Dec. 27. The Boston Singers, Bowler, subject, "Song," illustrated.

Old Fellow's Opera House, East Weymouth.

Dec. 6. Boston Choral Society.

Dec. 11. Frank E. Roberson, subject, "Boer and Briton," illustrated.

Dec. 18. Arthur E. Fock, subject, "Colonial Days," or "Days of a Nation," illustrated.

Baptist Church, Weymouth.

Nov. 17. Arthur E. Fock, subject, "Grand Causes of the World," illustrated.

Dec. 13. Col. Bain, subject, "Among the Masses."

Jan. 2. The John Thomas Concert Committee.

Fogg Opera House, South Weymouth.

Nov. 22. "The Boston Rivals."

Dec. 14. Col. Bain, subject, "A Century of Progress."

Dec. 20. Frank E. Roberson, subject, "Life of William McKinley," illustrated.

Jan. 24. Thomas Dinnane, "A Wonderful Structure," or "A Man of Today."

At The High School.

Miss Terrell, a former teacher, was a visitor at the school the latter part of last week.

A second eleven has been organized with Thirteenth Street, Weymouth, 10 members. The eleven has a strong line-up: Louey, I. A., Grafota, I. A., Trumbull, I. A., Kennedy, C. J., Watson, F. E., Whiting, F. E., Spillett, E. A., Merchant, C. H., Ford, C. H., V. Sherry, F. D., and have proved themselves nearly a match for the first eleven.

Mr. Cronin '90, now of Dartmouth, was a visitor at the school Monday.

Manager Sherman will take the following men, Cato, Torrey, and Mathew Mitchell, to the Boston High School on Saturday, Oct. 26, to play football. Cato, Sherry, White, Patrick and Duffy to Cambridge tomorrow (Saturday), where he will have his team face Cambridge High. Cambridge, however, playing the same game this year and Weymouth should expect a hard contest.

Mr. Cronin '92 met with a serious accident the past week, was confined to his bed, and will be out for a long time. He was moved to the Boston Emergency Hospital but is now at his home and at the time of writing is improving.

The card will appear next Tuesday. For the freshmen this will be the first High School mark and will show the training given by the different grammar schools.

On the afternoon of Nov. 1, in Room 3, the sophomores will present the following programme:

"The Awakening in Italy,"

"The Awakening in England,"

Miss Lovell.

"Wycliffe as a Teacher,"

Miss Koenig.

"The Work of Herod and Ascham,"

Miss Mary Hunt.

Recitation.

"More's Utopia,"

Miss Murry.

Recitation.

"The Place of Spencer in Literature,"

Mr. Prentiss.

Among the visitors this week we noted Mr. H. H. Hale, Miss Lillian of South Weymouth, and Miss Pratt of last year's freshman class.

The zoology class took their first lesson in the open fields on Wednesday afternoon, the weather being favorable which caused the excitement was to hear and act upon the resignation of the reception committee, that committee having decided to postpone the meeting until the time being unable to formulate plan for a reception. The resignation of the committee was accepted and after a few discussions of the time question, Mr. Lincoln gave some pleasing reminiscences of his experience both in connection with Boston and Weymouth, and Misses Cowling, Loud and Weymouth, and Misses Cullum, C. C. and Lincoln gave some pleasing reminiscences of their work in the organization for the ensuing year, and at 8.30 the meeting adjourned.

The freshman class will give the following recitation in the Assembly hall on the afternoon of Nov. 1:

Recitation. "Nathan Hale," (Plim.)

Recitation. "Miss Delicia."

Recitation. "Washington at Cambridge," (Lodge.)

Recitation. "Mr. Brown."

Recitation. "Warren's Address,"

Miss Anderson.

"Supposed speech of Adams," (Webster.)

Recitation. "Mr. Cullen."

Recitation. "Mr. Cullen."

Recitation. "The Franklin School."
